Summarize why you are interested in serving:

I am currently nearing the end my first term on the Commission. I'm currently the Vice Chair. I think I'm learning more and more what the work of the Heritage Preservation Commission is and how I can best serve the community and do the work of the City Council in this area.

Summarize your personal background and attributes you feel are relevant to consideration of your appointment such as community involvement, experience serving on governing boards, training, education, work history, or other personal values, experience or perspectives:

As a first-term member of the HPC, I've taken on a few educational projects. These projects include: writing a weekly newspaper column about Northfield's historic architecture; teaching classes about Northfield's architecture for the CVEC; leading walking tours of the Historic Downtown and of the Historic Homes of the East Side for the Historical Society; attending a conference or two to learn about historic preservation; attending city commissioners' training events; and attending all HPC meetings (so far). I am a 1970 graduate of St. Olaf College and have a Master's Degree in Speech/Communications from the U. of M. as well as a professional certificate in training for business and industry from the U. of M. I chose Northfield for my retirement future, moving here in 2004. I'm restoring a Craftsman house I bought in May. I've been instrumental in getting the Minnesota Chapter of the Society of Architectural Historians to come here for their fall tour this coming Saturday, October 13th with a concentration on Carleton College and our Historic Downtown. I'm enthusiastic about Northfield and about making sure that it preserves its history by preserving its landmarks and sharing its stories. I would like to continue the work and the learning that I've begun.

Summarize why you are interested in serving:

Historical buildings have been a fascination since I was a young girl. In fact, it was the beauty of and community respect for the historic downtown district, college campuses, and residential areas of Northfield that enticed my husband and me to settle here. We have renovated three of our homes (Italianate, Tudor Revival, and Queen Anne styles) and were able to successfully list the Italianate on the National Historic Registry. I have expressed interest in listing our current Eastside neighborhood and home on College Street to Scott Tempel and a member of the Heritage Preservation Commission. I would like to serve on the HPC to further the commission's objectives and play an active role in researching and listing more of our beautiful historic Northfield treasures.
