Update on Greenvale Park School planning process

Action Requested:

The Planning Commission hears a report on the progress of developing the new Greenvale Park Elementary School.

Summary Report:

Northfield School District is undertaking the planning process for a new school at Greenvale Park. The current building will remain as the community school and early childhood learning center. A new elementary school will be built to the east of the existing building. Staff and a planning commissioner have been serving on the core planning committee for the new school. We will give an overview of the process and steps moving forward.
